

Brian Osberg is a member of the Gallagher Integrated Governance Roundtable supporting work to provide a suite of resource materials to enhance support for effective Boards of Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs). Brian is also engaged in conducting board education and development for Integrated Delivery Systems and Accountable Care Organizations as they enhance their payer relationships for bundled payments and value-based contracting.

Brian has an extensive career in health systems management, working as a senior executive within both the public and private sectors organizations in Minnesota and Washington DC. He recently completed work with the National Governor's Association responsible for Medicaid policy reforms. He has more than 40 years of experience in health management and policy. He served in an executive role for various health care systems in Minnesota, Massachusetts and Michigan, and more recently, as Minnesota's State Medicaid Director.

Brian has senior management experience in the provider, health plan and public health care purchasing sectors. His accomplishments included the formation of physician-hospital partnerships, the development of health plan-provider joint ventures, the management of provider-sponsored managed care organizations, and the creation of risk-sharing arrangements. As the State Medicaid Director, he developed the capacity to manage health care services, including chronic care coordination and medical home models, created innovative managed care products for Medicare and Medicaid clients, and developed related IT and e-health systems.

Prior to joining DHS, Brian was executive vice president of Oakwood Healthcare, Inc., and president and CEO of Michigan Affiliated Providers Company. He held executive positions with other health care systems and managed care organizations, including CareGroup, Allina, Health Partners and Medica.

He earned a master's degree in Public Health Administration from the University of Minnesota, where he was on the adjunct faculty of the School of Public Health and recently received the University of Minnesota Distinguished Alumni Award from the University President.
